ODD CAUSE FOR DIVORCE. That her husband would not take a bath for months; that he began going he abused her and threatened her with a revolver and a knife are some of the allegations which were made by Rose N. McClarren in her testimony before a master in a suit for divorce against William J. McClarren, in Pitts-

Mrs. McClairen, who has been married but a short time, says she could have withstood all this, but when she found, she says, her husband putting ground glass in her food, she then thought it time to seek divorce. The body was not identified until yesterday afternoon, since before entering the river the woman, who intended to drown herself, divested herself of the nun's garb.

Men in a row boat Sunday afternoon noticed a woman walking into the river up to her waist line, with her hands clasped as if in prayer. She then dived forward into the water. Those in the row boat went as fast as possible to where the woman had disappeared under the water and dragged her out. She fought hard to get back into the water while the boat was being rowed to shore, then suddenly lay limp and dead in the bottem of the boat.

At the convent, it is said she had been an inmate there for more than 30 years, that she had for sometime been acting strangely. She belonged to one of the best families in the Monogahela Valley, but most of her relatives have died since she entered the convent.
